

Top 10 Best Jobs For People Who Love Math

by Manjil Saikia - Friday, June 16, 2017

<http://gonitsora.com/top-10-best-jobs-people-love-math/>

In today's generation everything is related to data, so if you are a master in this art, and then you won't have to wait long enough to achieve a placement with high paying salary. There are certain people who are so good at math that they spend their leisure time by solving mathematical puzzles.

So if you are one of them it is would be best to follow your passion, and you will find a large amount of job where you can utilize your math skill to accomplish the given task. A candidate with particular graduation degree can easily get into top notch companies with their math skills.

There is a certain job in the industry that requires candidates to have the right amount of math skill, and if you apply for those jobs, you will surely get upper hand. Not everyone possesses good math ability neither possesses a passion for them and companies hunt for people who boast both the quality of skill and passion.

However not every job will be suitable for you and you should be taken into consideration different factors before accepting a job letter. It would be a smart move to utilize your skill in a good company where you will have good work culture, growth and handsome salary.

Top Ten Jobs for People Who Love Math

The following points will depict the name of some best job which is perfectly suitable for people who have an immense amount of skills in math and can easily utilize them when they are given task in the office:

1. Statistics Expert –

Math skill along with statistics skill is the most important criteria for a statistics expert, and you have to apply your knowledge while doing your job. You have to determine data collection process, and the analyze them. Every statistician earns huge amount of salary along with an array of perks.

2. Stockbroker –

Stock broking job is another sector where the employee should have a good hold in mathematics as it is required for analyzing the market statistic. The primary job is to investigate and purchase or sell stocks and bonds. The stress level of this job is quite high, but the growth and annual salary make it one of the best jobs in the world.

3. Tax Officer –

You can even join government sector as income or sales tax officer and in this job you need to apply all your mathematical skill to accomplish the various task. It would be your job to determine the tax liability and determine tax amount of every individual or group. The annual salary of tax officer starts around four lacks per annum which go up way high.

4. Financial Analyst –

The primary job of a financial analyst is to work with various financial information of the market and then pass that information to the company or client for who they work for. Along with proper math skill, you need to have good communication skill and presentation skill in this job.

5. Astronomer –

Astronomer is a respected position that you can apply but for that, you need proficiency in physics along with math. As an astronomer, you have to understand the working of the universe and discover new thing. The salary for this job is immense, and with proper qualification, you can get into ISRO.

6. Meteorologist –

It is a unique job where you analyze the characteristic, attribute and motion of the earth atmosphere and provide the necessary information to the higher authority. This is one highly paying job where you won't have go through any stress while doing your job.

7. Civil Engineer –

Civil Engineering job is a crucial technical sector where you need have a good hold over mathematics and using that skill you have to design various structures. It would be your duty to assist in building structures like gas supply system, roads, harbor, airports, water supply system, etc.

8. Aerospace Engineering Job –

As an aerospace engineer you need to design and construct spacecraft and aircraft. Apart from these constructions, you also have to create a new control system and use new material to update the body of aircraft or spacecraft. Once you get this job, you won't have to worry about your salary.

9. Math Teacher –

If you have the passion for teaching children math then it would serve as the best job for yourself. You need to have proper communication skill and required qualification so that you can teach the children properly in reputed colleges. You can look for teacher jobs on SureRecruitment where you will find plenty of them.

10. Geophysical Mathematician –

Geophysical mathematician plays a major role in the society as they predict all type of natural calamities like hurricane, earthquake, tsunami, etc. They also have to find a new source of minerals and oils in a region and temperature variance in different geographical location.

So this is the list of top 10 best jobs for the people who love the math.

PDF generated from <http://gonitsora.com/top-10-best-jobs-people-love-math/>.

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 4.0 International License.